My whole life I have always been known as the overachiever. I love to constantly be busy and involved with several activities such as ASB (student government), Advanced Dance, Peer Leaders, CSF, Marine Biology club, and FANatics. I can't imagine my life without all of these wonderful high school clubs, because each one of them has helped me learn and grow as a person. Both dance and ASB are my passion and have pushed me to work harder than I ever imagined possible.

Mrs. Hill, our ASB director is someone that I have always looked up to. Not only is she responsible for supervising the planning of school events, she also has to deal with the staff/administration, parents, and student complaints along with any student conflict. She is so emotionally strong, honest, hard working, and is a great time-manager when it comes to work and her family.

After to college I hope to acquire an advertising job with either the Disney Corporation or Apple. It is my dream to create new innovative commercials for the company. I'm realistic and I know at first I may not start off in the position I want, but I am more than willing to work hard for several years to achieve my goals and dreams.

Another person that I admire is my mom. She has been fighting the disease Multiple Sclerosis (MS) for over 25 years is now on permanent disability because she is no longer able to work, but she refuses to let it bring her down. Her MS is something that our family is faced with everyday, but it has made our family stronger than ever. It would mean the world to receive this scholarship, because even through life's struggles, I have worked hard to achieve my dreams.
